Chulalongkorn University Architecture and Design Symposium

The 1st Symposium “Asian Modernization”

Proceedings

September 2010

Faculty of Architecture, Chulalongkorn University, Bangkok, Thailand

Preface

An annual international symposium, Chulalongkorn University Architectural Design Symposium, or CU:ADS, is a forum for an exchange of academic experiences and research in the field of architecture and design. As a discussion platform, the symposium aims for academics and professionals committed to the study of architecture and design.

For this year's theme of Asian Modernization, the symposium has attracted numerous submissions from all corners of Asia and beyond. The number of diverse participants and high-quality papers are presented here in this volume.

The Faculty of Architecture, Chulalongkorn University, wishes to thank not only all symposium participants, but also faculty members, students and staff, for making CU:ADS 2010 a great success.
